Assisted Living Facilities

(Also known as Adult Care Homes)

- Adult care homes are residences for aged and disabled adults who may require 24-hour supervision and assistance with personal care needs. People in adult care homes typically need a place to live, some help with personal care (such as dressing, grooming and keeping up with medications) and some limited supervision. Medical care may be provided on occasion, but is not routinely needed. Medication may be given by designated, trained staff. Some people refer to these facilities as "rest homes". The smaller homes, with 2 to 6 residents, are still referred to as family care homes. In addition, there are Group Homes for Developmentally Disabled Adults, which are licensed to house two to nine developmentally disabled adult residents.

- Adult care homes are different from nursing homes in the level of care and qualifications of staff. They are licensed by the state Division of Health Service Regulation (Group Care Section) and are monitored by Adult Home Specialists within county departments of social services. Facilities that violate licensure rules can be subject to sanctions, including fines.
- The Long Term Care Ombudsman Program advocates on behalf of adult care home residents and provides a variety of services and assistance to adult care home residents, families and providers.
- To help low-income families pay for the cost of care in adult care homes, North Carolina operates the State-County Special Assistance Program. Medicaid is now a source of support for residents who qualify based on income and personal care needs. Personnel at county departments of social services can answer questions about the use of these funds.
- Information listed above was taken from the NC Division of Aging and Adult Services website www.ncdhhs.gov/aging/aliving.htm

NURSING HOMES

- There are times when people can no longer perform the tasks of daily living even with the help of family, in home aides, and community services. Care outside the home must be considered. Sometimes their needs can not be met in an Adult care Home and they do not need to be in a hospital, as those beds are needed for patients with acute illnesses. The care needed can be received in a Nursing Home. Nursing Homes provide nursing services by, or under the supervision of, licensed nurses according to physicians' orders. For more information concerning placement in a nursing home contact, the Wayne County Department of Social Services (919) 580-4034.
- All nursing home facilities are licensed in accordance with the North Carolina State law and are regulated by the NC Division of Health Service Regulation. Advocates for nursing home residents and their families are available to ensure that the Nursing Home Patient's Bill of Rights is honored by the facility. These advocates can be accessed locally through your regional Area Agency on Aging.

- The cost of care for nursing homes varies based on the facility of choice. Methods of payment for this type of care can include private funds, long-term care insurance, Medicare and Medicaid.

For more information or to obtain a list of nursing homes in your area, contact the North Carolina Division of Health Service Regulation or download a listing of facilities from their website

<http://www.ncdhhs.gov/dhsr/reports.htm>

You may also contact the Regional Ombudsman at (252)638-3185 ext. 3007 or the Wayne County Services on Aging at (919)-731-1591 to obtain a list of facilities.
